Acceptable Coverage Declinations

The declination should be for excess hurricane property coverage for limit and attachment amounts like the HHRF policy provides and may therefore be a “full” or “partial” declination:

- A “full” declination declines to quote or provide coverage regardless of limited or sublimited amount for either hurricane or all perils including hurricane coverage.
- A “partial” declination declines to quote or provide coverage sufficient to fully insure the association for either hurricane or all perils including hurricane coverage; a policy with sublimited hurricane coverage insufficient to fully insure the association would be a partial declination.

The declination must be for property coverage and that coverage must be for either:

- A policy covering hurricane risk.
- A policy covering all perils including hurricane risk.
