Identity Theft

Identity theft is a serious crime. It's happening more and more frequently around the world, across the nation, and here in Hawaii.

People whose identities have been stolen can spend months or years - and their hard-earned money - cleaning up the mess thieves have made of their good name and credit record.

In the meantime, victims may lose job opportunities, not qualify for loans, or even get arrested for crimes they didn't commit.

The Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs is working to protect the residents of the State of Hawaii and would like to share some important information on how to protect your identity.

More information on identity theft here in Hawaii may be found at cca.hawaii.gov/identity-theft-information

5. Be aware of the people around you when using the ATM
6. Report lost or stolen credit cards immediately

7. Sign new credit cards as soon as you receive them

8. Match your credit card receipts with your monthly statement to make sure you don't have any unauthorized charges

9. Take your name off national or local marketing/calling lists

What do you do if your identity is stolen

1. Contact the fraud departments of any one of the three major credit bureaus to place a fraud alert on your credit file.

The fraud alert requests creditors to contact you before opening any new account or making any changes to your existing accounts.

As soon as the credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, the other two credit bureaus will be automatically notified to place fraud alerts on your account. Once the alert is placed, you may order a free
