What is the Bureau of Conveyances?

The Bureau of Conveyances (“Bureau”), a division of the Department of Land and Natural Resources, operates the permanent document recording system for Hawaii.

For certain legal documents, to be legally binding, particularly those related to real estate, they must be recorded in the public record. The Bureau serves as the government entity with jurisdiction over this important task.

For condominium owners, the Bureau is the official repository for condominium declarations, bylaws, maps, and any amendments or restatements. For changes to be enforceable, they must be recorded at the Bureau.

How do I locate documents at the Bureau?

The Bureau may be visited in person at the Kalanimoku Building. The office has staff and equipment to assist you in your search. The Bureau also operates an online search site for many documents: boc.ehawaii.gov/docsearch/search.html

Please review the extensive user manual located on the left column. Users may search via individual or business name, document number, or TMK:

Within each Developer’s Public Report issued since the mid-1970s is a disclosure of the recorded declaration, bylaws, and map with the corresponding document numbers under the “creation of the condominium and condominium documents” section. Enter these document numbers into the Bureau’s search to find online copies. The search result will also generally show the grantor and grantee, who can then be used as search criteria in the individual/business name to find additional amendments.

Be aware that the Bureau has undergone document number format changes over time.

How do I obtain documents from the Bureau?

The Bureau’s office has in-person copying fees per page. Documents can also be found online available by non-certified digital download or certified by printed mailed copy. Please visit the bottom of the search page for information regarding current fees.

Bureau Location and Contact Information

The Bureau is located at 1151 Punchbowl Street, #123, Honolulu, Hawaii, 96813.

The Bureau is open from 7:45 am to 4:30 pm, Monday through Friday. They can be reached by phone at (808) 587-0147.

Public metered parking is available in the basement garage.
